

Safety

When autistic children and adults wander from their home, school or other safe settings, this creates a critical risk to their safety. Learning more about prevention tools and resources is important for caregivers, families, school personnel and first responders. The resources below provide information about steps that can be taken to increase the overall safety of your loved one.

These resources can be found on the ECHO Autism Website at echoautism.org or you may scan the QR Code to go directly to the resources.
